CHICAGO, Nov. 39.—Rural disinctination to sell has exercised a bullish influence in the corn market this week, and especially so after word came that food fellef for Europe would be organized on a broad humanitarian basis. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning varied from %c off to 5%c higher. Oats ranged from %c decline to 2c advance, and provisions showed gains of 10c to 62c.

At first the fact that cold weather pointed to larger receipts had a decidedly weakening effect on the corn market. Announcement that Argentine corn was being shipped to Belgium and that South Africa was shipping heavily to Great Britain tended also to depress values here later.

Oats were governed mainly by the factors that ruled corn.

Upturns in provisions seemed due to a large extent to the feet the corn.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK Nov. 30.—There was renewed liquidation in the cotton market at the opening today and a further decline in prices. The opening was irregular at unchanged prices to a decline of 55 points, with December selling at 26.95c, January at 26.06c and March at 25.29c, or about 38 to 55 points under last night's closing. There was further selling for Japanese account and some scattered Southern selling as well as local liquidation, but the market steadled at the decline and later fluctuations were irregular with enough covering for over the week end to cause moderate railles. Some of the reports from the goods trade indicated a slightly better tone, but there was still a good deal of nervousness over the situation in that quarter and the effects of bullish spot advices was minimized by the absence of any important trade demand.

Reports that hedges were being sold against stocks of yarn goods for which there was no immediate trade outlet, served to increase the nervousness of the market later in the morning. December broke to 26.58c, or 100 points net lower, while January and later months sold 95 to 120 points under last night's closing figures and into new low ground for the season. January touched 25.30c and March 24.45c and the market closed at the lowest levels with the tone barely steady at a decline of 95 to 120 points.

Spot cotton quiet: middling, 28.10.
Futures closed barely steady at a decline of 100 to 95 points.

Hedge sales increased the offerings on the market and increased weakness was taken on. Late in the day the active months were $8 to $6 points under yesterday's final prices. The market had no real buying power at any stage of the session.

Futures closed easy at a decline of $8 to $2 points.

To make full response on Monday laverpool should come down 95 to 57 points sterling, and it is believed she will do say.

In the spot department there was little doing and quotations were lirregular. New Orleans reduced them will not support the market has been and Houston left them unchanged, but sales were very small. Picks Up Thousands Of Pins Off Street

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 20 (Spl.)
—During the past year Matt Lyle, well known about town, has ploked up pins of various kinds, nalls and screws from the streets in such quantities as will supprise anyone. Here is the record that he claims for the 12 months beginning Oct. 10, 1917, and the corresponding date of this year. Pins. 10,400; safety pins. 375; hair pins. 460; screws. 200; nails (gathered in three years), four kegs.

safety pins, 370; hair pins, 400; screws, 200; nails 'gathered in three years', four kegs.

No nail or pin of any kind escapes his attention. If he sees a crooked nail he takes it to his home, of Morgan street, near the Southern railway, along with his other findings, where he straightens it out and lays it away. His neils are put in a keg at the end of each day. His pins are placed carefully in a cloth which he carries in his cocket at all times. As soon as he gets 1,000 pins in one of these pieces of dioth, he takes it home and locks it up in a box where they are all kept.

He would not give one of these nails or pine to his best friends, he declares. Se adds, however, that he might some day sell the nails.

Thousands of Southern planters fondly remember the late Col. Henry F. Blount, founder of the famous "True Blue" line of plows and other farm implements, for his fixed principles, superb honesty and sterling integrity. Like that celebrated English blue yarn manufacturer, 300 years ago, whose product became world-famed for its unchanging true blue color, Col. Blount painted his plows "True Blue" because they were true blue clean through. There were other blue varus, but only one true blue, just as there are now other
